Blast Traps Crew Near Pittsburgh

Workers Seek 37 Lost In Coal Mine

CARMICHAELS, Pa. (AP)—Rescue workers, slowed by deadly gases, wormed their way through tons of rubble today toward 37 men trapped 650 feet underground by a shattering mine blast.

As a team of 60 men inched their way within 4,500 feet of the area where the men are believed trapped—or dead—a call went out for ministers to report to the disaster area to comfort miners' families.

The blast, second in the 16-year history of U.S. Steel Corp.'s Robena Pit, buckled concrete walls and left shoring hanging like burnt matches Thursday at 1.15 p.m.

Forty-four others working in another section of the mine escaped unhurt.

There had been no contact with the trapped men.

Lewis Evans, Pennsylvania's secretary of mines, directing the rescue work, called the situation

"desperate," but held out hope. "We hope the men built barricades to stop the flow of gas," he said.

Evans blamed the blast on a combination of gas and coal dust. He described it as tremendous.

The mine, one of the world's largest soft coal operations, is about 50 miles southwest of Pittsburgh. It produces coal for U.S. Steel's Clairton (Pa.) Works.

The mine shaft drops straight down 525 feet from the surface. At that point there is a sloping tunnel without branches extending two miles to the working face. The tunnel drops gradually from 525 feet to 650 feet. That's the point where the men are trapped. There is only one exit to the surface.

Mine officials said air coming up from the mine shaft contains large amounts of carbon dioxide, indicating there is fire in the blast area.

The first indication of anything wrong was the reported failure of an electric exhaust fan. It blew out, but was repaired in 10 minutes. Five minutes later it conked out again.

James Girod, an assistant mine superintendent, said the first crews down the shaft detected dust coming from all directions, indicating an explosion or fire.

The major problem for the rescue teams was to pump bad air out and clean air in. Concrete ventilation shafts had buckled under the blast.

Inside a corrugated steel shack above the surface some three dozen relatives of trapped miners waited in bitter wintry weather for news.

The explosion happened on the 55th anniversary of the worst U.S. mine accident on record. On Dec. 6, 1907, a disaster in a mine at Monongah, W. Va., killed 361 persons.

EVERYBODY'S DOING IT. Frances Papaspiros, of 489 N. Ellsworth Ave., a Salem High School senior, shoveled the walk alongside her father's downtown restaurant today after the heavy snowfall closed schools. She was only one of hundreds of persons who had to dig their way out of what was described as the worst Ohio storm in 12 years.

Traffic Snarled, Schools Closed As Drifts Pile Up

Near blizzard conditions closed schools, blocked roads and disrupted power in Columbiana County today, and no immediate relief is in sight.

The season's first major snowstorm, which began Wednesday afternoon, blanketed much of the county with more than a foot of snow. Winds with gusts up to 60 miles an hour piled drifts five feet deep in some areas.

The Weather Bureau described the snowstorm as the worst in Ohio in 12 years. Eighteen attributable deaths were reported. More than 5,000 students in the Columbiana County school system were joined by pupils in Salem, Leetonia, Lisbon, East Palestine, Columbiana and East Liverpool in an extra day's vacation.

Schools in the county system closed were United Local, Beaver Local, Fairfield-Waterford and Southern Local.

State and national highways in the county were open, the Ohio Highway Patrol barracks at Lisbon reported, but drifting permitted only one-way traffic in some places.

Most rural roads are impassable due to deep drifts, Dick Neill of Lisbon, county highway department superintendent, said.

Neill said all county equipment has been pressed into service, but because of the wind the roads are drifting over almost as fast as they are plowed. He urged residents who do not have to drive to remain home, because stalled and abandoned cars are impeding the work of county crews.

A major principal highways blocked from time to time when cars became caught in drifts was Route 62 north of Salem.

Power, Phone Service Interrupted

A power failure in Salem last night compounded inconveniences to local residents.

Thomas Corrigan, Ohio Edison Co. supervisor of lines, said the wind entangled wires at the Mill St. sub-station at 2:20 a.m., disrupting power practically all over town. Service was restored in most areas within a half-hour, he said, although the west end was without power for an hour and twenty minutes.

Corrigan said four crews of six men each worked all through the night as falling limbs, and wind caused scattered power interruptions.

The general power failure did not affect three Salem manufacturing plants, Bliss Co., Deming Division and Salem China Co., which are on different voltage lines, Corrigan said.

Neither local hospital was seriously troubled by the power failure.

Robert Rice, Salem City Hospital administrator, said the hospital's emergency generator automatically went into operation when the power was cut off. "The main inconvenience to the hospital staff was that the elevator did not run during the power shut-off," he said.

"We have emergency equipment which served nicely," Jerry Colaizzi, assistant administrator of the Central Clinic, reported. "The staff used flashlights for a few minutes."

About 10 residential telephones were out of order last night because of tree limbs falling on lines, Raymond Stiver, plant manager, said. Stiver said repairs were taking longer to effect because of road conditions.

Basketball Games Are Postponed

Ohio highway patrolmen from both the Lisbon and Canfield barracks reported scores of vehicles stalled on hills through their districts much of last night and today. A number of minor mishaps, mostly cars skidding into ditches, were caused by the snow, they said.

Both barracks reported receiving numerous calls from motorists inquiring about road conditions. People were advised to stay at home.

Many high school basketball games scheduled tonight, including Salem's tilt here with Columbus East, were postponed. Also postponed were numerous social and civic meetings.

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer reported service department crews have been out all night and are still working to keep streets open. The snow plows were placed into service at 1 a.m. today, he said.

The mayor, who is working with the street crews, said the heaviest drifts because of the wind direction.

Postmaster Ray Reasbeck reported all local carriers began distributing mail at the regular time this morning. "But had less mail to deliver than usual," Salem News carriers were also to make their deliveries.

Reasbeck said a mail truck due in Salem from Youngstown at 4 a.m. was stuck in a drift on Rt. 62 at mid-morning.

The highway post office truck scheduled to arrive here at 5:30 a.m. had not arrived by 10:30, and its whereabouts was unknown.

Mail transported by train has been arriving an hour to two hours late, Reasbeck said. Only about one-fifth of employees at the Courthouse in Lisbon were able to get to work today, and department heads announced their offices will not be open Saturday.

Between 2 and 5 inches of additional snow is forecast here for today and tonight. Strong winds will continue to create drifts.

Temperatures will average about 5 to 11 degrees below the normal range of 38-22, for the next five days the Ohio Weather Bureau predicts. Frequent per-

Jury Deadlocked In Embezzling Case

Prosecutor Will Ask New Trial for E. Liverpool Clerk

Columbiana County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said today he plans to set a new trial for Roberta C. Smith, 40, of East Liverpool whose embezzlement trial at Lisbon ended in a hung jury Thursday.

Miss Smith went on trial Nov. 26 on a charge of embezzling $23,841 from the East Liverpool City Water Department where she was a clerk. The jury began deliberations Wednesday morning at 10:05 and told Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp yesterday at 1:30 p.m. it was unable to reach a verdict.

Miss Smith testified during the trial that she juggled accounts to cover shortages she said had occurred earlier.

Brokaw said he will study the trial transcripts before setting a date for a new trial.

Jury Foreman Donald Roberts of Columbiana reported to Judge Sharp the jury was deadlocked.

"Do you feel you cannot reach an agreement?" the judge asked. "No, we cannot," Roberts answered.

After dismissing the jury Judge Sharp said, "I would like to talk to you about this case since you have been excused. You had two questions to decide — did Miss Smith receive the money as chief clerk, and did she fail to account for all of it?"

"What she did with it or what happened to it was up to her to tell you, not for the state to prove."

"According to my figures, I have around $4,500 that Miss Smith has not accounted for, and that was what you 12 members had to decide," the judge said.

"I know that finding a defendant guilty for something he didn't do, is the most serious thing a jury can do, but it is also a miscarriage of justice to encourage wretched people to commit serious crimes if a person whom the evidence shows is guilty is acquitted," he said.

Because of the widespread publicity the case has received, and the judge's reprimand of the jury, Atty. Frank Springer, defense counsel, is expected to ask for a change of venue if the trial is rescheduled.

The panel of three men and nine women received the case on Wednesday following instructions on the laws involved by Judge Joel H. Sharp.

Miss Smith, former chief clerk of the water department, was charged with embezzling and converting to her own use the money found missing from the department funds for the period between May 1959 and November 1961.

In her trial, the 40-year-old blonde denied taking any money, stating there had been about $11,000 in receipts taken from the

New Western Reserve School Site Chosen

BERLIN CENTER—An agreement whereby Western Reserve School District will purchase the 109-acre Serensky farm as the site for the new high school was completed Thursday, according to Superintendent Maurice Jones. The purchase price is $25,000.

The Board of Education, after several weeks of deliberation, decided on the site over four other possible locations in the district.

The Serensky farm is located two-tenths of a mile west of the intersection of Route 224 and Duck Creek Rd. The other sites that had been considered were the vacant fields at the four corners of that intersection.

Next step leading toward the new school's erection will be the sale of bonds and the making of a down payment from general funds.

The Board hopes to let bids in February or March, Jones said, with construction to begin immediately after the awarding of the contract.

Tentative plans are to have the 300-pupil school in operation by the fall of 1964 or perhaps the second semester of the 1964-65 school year.

Passage of a $500,000 bond issue last month makes construction of the school possible.

County Seeks Fund Answer On CD Needs

Columbiana County commissioners will study ways and means of making more funds available for the county's civilian defense, commissioners said during their regular session in Lisbon Thursday.

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, Howard W. Heston and Harry R. Waller, Salem's principal Civilian Defense leaders who met with the commissioners yesterday, report that the county officials were "very receptive" to information gathered by Heston and Waller at recent C.D. conferences in Delaware, Columbus and Washington, D.C.

The information points up the fact that Columbiana County's Civilian Defense lags in comparison to that of other Ohio counties. Acknowledging CD to be a "very important matter," the commissioners promised efforts to allocate funds in next year's

'Day of Infamy' Marked Quietly By U.S. Sailors at Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP)—The "Day of Infamy" was marked quietly and without ceremony today while the Navy at Pearl Harbor turned its attention to sports.

On Ford Island, less than a mile from the black-scarred coast where the Japanese attack of Dec. 7, 1941, was centered, a nine-hole golf course was dedicated. A boxing program at Bloch Gymnasium, across the water from the sunken hulk of the USS Arizona, featured five amateur Japanese fighters.

There was no official recognition of the 21st anniversary of the darkest moment in U.S. naval history.

A small boat shuttled between the shore and the memorial, as it has done daily since last Memorial Day when the shrine was completed. A Navy official said larger-than-usual crowds were expected to make the trip. Other-

3 Persons Hurt In Road Crash

Snowstorm Keeps Patrolmen on Run

Three New Waterford persons, including a young girl, were slightly hurt in a rear-end collision Thursday morning at 8:25 on Route 14, just west of Route 7.

James Dyce, 18, the driver, and Dixie Dyce, 5, both of New Waterford, suffered back injuries when their car stopped to make a left turn, was struck from behind by one driven by Inez Rupert, 48, also of that village. Mrs. Rupert sustained a lip injury. They were treated by a local physician.

Mrs. Rupert was cited by the Lisbon barracks of the State Highway Patrol for failing to stop within the assured clear distance.

Bus In Accident

The driver and passengers in a Quaker City Co. bus, traveling east on Alternate Route 14, were injured Thursday afternoon at 3:20 just east of Salem when the bus rammed into a car, the bus was operated by James L. Slocum, 24, of Washingtonville and

Homemaker Program Set Next Spring

County Unit Plans Aid for Shut-Ins

The Columbiana County Commission on Aging, headed by Mrs. Raymond Stiver of Salem, made plans Thursday night at Lisbon to put a "homemaker" program into effect in early spring to aid elderly shut-ins in the county.

Attendance at the planning session at the First Christian Church was severely curbed by the inclement weather, but those present advanced preparations for the aid program, one of the first of its kind in Ohio.

Miss Katherine Gibson of 782 S. Lincoln Ave., Salem, a member of the county commission on aging, was named executive secretary for promotion of the homemaker and friendly visitor programs.

Mrs. Carl McConner of 854 Greenwood, Salem, retiring president of the Home for Aged Women on E. State St., will assume the county chairmanship of the homemaker service.

Mrs. Stiver, who as coordinator has spearheaded the plan to help aging people, said a chairman will be appointed for each of six areas mapped out at last night's meeting. These chairmen will contact people from all counties.

New York's Pan-Am Building Has About Everything

Heliport now under construction tops New York City's Pan Am building, left, the world's largest office structure, scheduled for completion next March. Connected with Grand Central Terminal, its 2,400,000 feet of floor space will accommodate 25,000 office workers in a 60-story, 808-foot-high oblong-based tower. The 18 escalators and 63 elevators are engineered to handle its city-size number of occupants, plus a quarter-million sightseers daily. They'll come by train, subway, on foot, and in the cars which will fill the building's 400-car garage. Copters, such as one shown, right, will give service to New York's three airports and to the New York World's Fair during '64 and '65.

Sec. McNamara's Logic

Defense Secretary McNamara's proposed reorganization of National Guard and Army Reserve patterns, to bring them up to date in military terms, has made him the target of widespread misgivings and red-hot anger.

This is a touchy subject.

The National Guard is nominally under the control of state governors—but only nominal control of state governors—but only nominally because it is ultimately under control of the commander-in-chief and its financial fate is in the hands of Congress.

It will be human nature and good politics in some states to make it appear that Secretary McNamara is trying a sinister trick to get his hands on states' rights. Governors and friends of the National Guard will be tempted to go all-out on this theme, and some will show no restraint.

THEY MAY WIN some points. They may put enough pressure on the Department of Defense to force changes in the reorganization plans. But in the long pull, Secretary McNamara must be favored to win most of the points.

He has two advantages: purse and persuasion.

He is responsible to Congress for getting the greatest possible value out of defense dollars. He is in daily contact with members of Congress who confirm and reject proposed changes in military organization.

His clinching argument will be that no reduction in personnel is contemplated, only an increase in the efficiency of existing personnel. This is as much in the interest of state governors as it is of military planners.

It is a continuation of the military streamlining that Secretary McNamara has been working on since he went to Washington in 1961—and in a larger sense it is a continuation of the streamlining that has been going on intermittently since the end of World War II, especially under President Eisenhower.

THE INEXORABLE persuasion of logic will back Secretary McNamara. On most points it can be expected to overcome the noisier and more emotional protests of traditionalists and sentimentalists.

No one wants to see them humiliated or their spirit broken, but neither does anyone want to see the dynamic young secretary of defense backed into a corner on his momentous project of giving U.S. taxpayers "more bang for a buck," as one of his colorful predecessors on the job liked to phrase it.

Will We Shoot Santa Claus?

Is Santa Claus on the way out?

The jolly little elf who, down through the centuries, has brought so much happiness and sheer delight to children (and adults) at Christmastide, must inevitably be hurt by the sophistication of our age.

Mimicked by gaunt red-suited human scarecrows on street corners, in department stores and at organization parties; heard over the radio for weeks before Christmas, in many different voices; lampooned in sophisticated TV comedy routines; landed in this town and that town by helicopter, conventional aircraft, reindeer and even fire engines, can the classical concept of Santa long survive?

Comes now the latest threat to belief in St. Nick. Three young believers heard on the radio that Santa had been arrested in Cincinnati for working on Sunday.

Deeply concerned about the jailed elf's ability to deliver presents when behind bars, and equally worried about what would happen when Christmas comes on Sunday, they wrote a letter to Ohio's governor.

The governor replied they need not worry, that no law made by man can destroy the spirit of Christmas.

But the lawful behavior and activities of men which distort, ridicule and deglamorize Santa Claus can disenchant young believers and may lead to the elf's demise.

This Would Be the Time

If it's Kremlin policy to win friends and influence people, instead of making enemies and scaring the wits out of everybody, this would be the time to prove it.

U Thant, United Nations secretary-general, has laid it on the line for the General Assembly. Either it must collect assessments due for special activities in the Congo and the Near East, or the United Nations will be bankrupt.

The catch in collecting the assessments has been Russia's refusal to pay, on purely technical grounds that have been cut away legally by the World Court of International Justice. Other countries also are delinquent, but if Russia set the right example they would be forced to follow along.

As it is, some of the other countries are in mood to spend money they can save by taking advantage of Russia's precedent. They think there is bargaining power in being in arrears; that other countries will be reluctant to push them too far lest they drop out of the United Nations entirely.

Why not test them out by serving notice they will be dropped from membership automatically if their checks are not in the mail 17? Anybody want to bet they would eir by Jan. 17? Anybody want to bet they would not break their backs to get them there in time?

That Snow Is Heavy

Along with snowflakes and slush, winter, which looks like it has arrived here, brings its yearly quota of avoidable deaths.

While snow shoveling can be a good form of exercise, like any other strenuous activity, it must be approached gingerly, particularly by men past middle age.

Most of us don't like to admit we're growing older but let's not tempt fate by trying to act like a young person with a snow shovel.

Some wives feel they could make real good use of the bowing ball hubby takes to the alleys two or three times a week. WHAM!

Letter From Max

By Martin R. Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

Here is a gimmick with great possibilities for families overstocked with cookies, candy, window cleaner, Christmas cards and other items to sell to raise money for the various clubs that members of the family belong to.

This merchandise has a way of piling up until Mom and Pop shell out the coin to buy all the stuff and keep the club solvent. Our household, for example, has enough window cleaner to make a 10-story apartment house sparkle for a decade.

Our gimmick, still in its infancy and operating on a trial basis, is to unload as much as possible on door-to-door sales people who make regular stops at the house—a brush man, a household supply chap, a lady with a line of female garments and a lady with gunk of all kinds for milady's toilet. Turnabout is fair play.

Thoughts about football: the efficiency with which officials on the field pass the football to each other to get it back where it belongs for the next play is a wonder to watch. One reason we never played in a marching band is because we would be overcome with curiosity wondering how we looked in those fascinating formations the bands perform on the field at halftime; the other reason is because we never played a musical instrument. Whatever happened to the custom of playing high school games on Saturday afternoons, always the biggest event of the week to us oldtimers?

Encroachment of hunters in built-up areas has gone so far that the shot from their guns sometimes rattles against the windows and walls of occupied houses. This has been mentioned several times in irate letters to the editor and it happened to the house of a couple of friends of ours. Such carelessness to life and limb by hunters is the quickest way to turn a cold war into a shooting war.

We are only statistics in the federal census but a new wrinkle in the submergence of individuals in technology is the news that the Ohio State Library in Columbus is relegating our ancestors to holes in punch-cards to provide speedier information for persons seeking information about their Ohio forebears. A person could hardly be anything less than a hole, could he?

It came as a jolt to read that four 19th century white marble fireplace mantels had disappeared from the White House years ago. If such things happen in the White House we small householders have cause to quake. A closer reading of the story disclosed that the mantels vanished during one of the periodic renovating jobs performed by the White House and skulduggery was not necessarily involved. This only partly reassured us.

The Russian admission that the idyllic life on the Russian collective farms was disrupted by young goodniks shipped from the cities to the farms for "re-education" gave us a lift and indicated again that a real utopia is still beyond reach.

Home movies have been the butt of many jokes but we know a fellow who as an amateur has taken movies of the flora and fauna of such places as the Rocky Mountains, Alaska, western Canada and the Everglades in Florida and we have enjoyed seeing the whole series in his home. So go ahead and laugh if you want to.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

'Managed News' Situation Clouds Adlai Story

Poor Adlai Stevenson! Twice he was the Democratic party's presidential nominee and lost. Once he was talked of for secretary of state in President Kennedy's Cabinet. He lost out there, too. Now the former governor of Illinois, who is this country's ambassador to and official spokesman in the United Nations, can't be exactly sure just where he stands.

David Lawrence
in the United Nations, can't be exactly sure just where he stands.

Will he lose out in that post, too?

A furor has been caused by a magazine article which quotes anonymous officials as implying that Mr. Stevenson was an appeaser in the recent Cuban crisis. Naturally, this is reported to have impaired, for the moment anyway, Mr. Stevenson's prestige at the U.N. so the White House issues words of consolation to Mr. Stevenson and tells the public in strong words that Mr. Kennedy's ambassador to the U.N. still is a trusted adviser of the President of the United States.

In these days of "manipulated" news, one doesn't know what denials and reassurances really mean. The people generally—including many reporters—are suspicious that all is not well. It's recalled that last year there were persistent news stories intimating that Chester Bowles would leave his post as under secretary of state. Denials came from the White House but the change was made just the same a little later.

THE QUESTION is being raised as to whether the same tactics are being used now to ease Mr. Stevenson out of his U.N. post. Who is back of the agitation for the removal of Mr. Stevenson? There are rumors of "palace in-ton vendetta."

One report has it that the plan was or still is that McGeorge Bundy, a very able adviser to the President and former dean at Harvard, is being groomed to become secretary of state in place of Dean Rusk, who, in turn, is to go to the U.N. as ambassador. It isn't clear what post Mr. Stevenson would get.

The rumors still are purely theoretical speculation and, for a while at least, will be dismissed as groundless.

Nobody can ignore the fact that there is an unstable situation surrounding the advisers to the President. The Cabinet as such has been relegated to an unimportant position as an advisory body. Certain Cabinet members—such as the secretaries of the treasury, state, and defense—sit in the big meetings but the idea of giving first rank to a Cabinet council of 10 eminent persons, formally designated for confirmation by the Senate, has seemingly been abandoned. Most of the advisers hold office by appointments that do not require Senate confirmation.

What really happened at the top-level conferences relating to Cuba? The Saturday Evening Post article—written by Stewart Alsop and Charles Bartlett, two able reporters who are close friends of President Kennedy—merely quoted an anonymous participant in the high councils of the administration as saying:

"Adlai wanted a Munich. He wanted to trade the Turkish, Italian and British missile bases for the Cuban bases."

IT ISN'T clear whether Mr. Stevenson just wanted the subject of "trades" put on the agenda or whether he really recommended such a course. Some "trading" apparently was done, as is evidenced by a speech by U Thant, secretary general of the U.N., who referred the other day to the Cuban agreement of recent weeks as having been an example of compromise and of the principle of give and take.

Now, it is a bit unfair to Mr. Stevenson to picture him as an appeaser just on the basis of someone else's interpretation of his comments or basic thinking.

There seems no doubt that, in the atmosphere created in New York by the neutralists in the Asian and African countries who want America's money and rarely ever vote along with us, the ideas of that group will somehow rub off on American representatives at the U.N.

Mr. Stevenson has an agile mind. While he must know that appeasement doesn't pay, he is one of the school of thought which sees some virtue in marathon negotiations. He probably did no more in the high council proceedings than sketch the idea of possible negotiation within which a settlement might be achieved. For it must not be forgotten that all these conferences being talked about took place in the context of a possible nuclear war.

THESE EXPLANATIONS, however, may not satisfy those who clamor for something convincing from the White House on the subject. Chalmers M. Roberts, able writer for the Washington Post, says the magazine article has been "widely taken in Washington as a hatchet job of uncertain instigation designed to force Stevenson's resignation."

The same newspaper comments editorially that it is wrong for anyone to infer that the President "might resort to a disreputable journalistic circumlocution reminiscent of a Byzantine palace conspiracy."

The Washington Evening Star, with a sense of detachment from the whole melee, asks in an editorial "Who Managed the Leak?" and then, with tongue in cheek, says:

"It is all very confusing. Under a system of managed news, nobody is ever quite sure of the aims of such management. Was it, in this case, to discredit Mr. Stevenson, or to discredit him in order to provide an opportunity to praise him? We do not know. We trust, however, that the White House will follow established precedent. FBI agents should be assigned immediately to interview The Saturday Evening Post reporters in an effort to find out who said what, and why."

It Might Work

A Kent State University philosophy professor has an answer to overcrowded and undermanned college classes—do away with teachers in general requirement courses and let the students rely on books and television.

Writing in the current issue of the North Central Association Quarterly, Dr. Henry Moulds warns that "today in America the number of students increases at a faster pace than the number of teachers" and adds:

"If every high school graduate insists on getting a college education or the equivalent thereof, let him enter. Let him register. Not for class attendance, but for reading. Then let him take the examination(s) on the appropriate subject matter. If he passes, good; if not, let him try again after due time for meditation and further study."

This, he maintains, would free the short supply of college teachers for consultation and advising on the lower levels and classroom instruction for advanced classes.

"Faced by the flood of enrollees and the apparent unwillingness of capable people to train for the academic profession in sufficient numbers, those of us that remain must make an orderly retreat and regroup at the level of 'advance work,' he says, adding:

"Here beyond the general requirements, where classes can be made small, we can teach again, and there will be work enough for all of us. An advanced course presumably calls for student discussion and professional interpretation. Neither are properly, conveniently, or effectively handled en masse."

Dr. Moulds has been a member of the Kent faculty since 1948. His interest in philosophy lies in the social and political field, and he is author of many articles on educational theory. He serves as chairman of a new honors course which deals with the study of communism from the standpoint of current economics, political theory, propaganda, science and education.

The Old, Old Story

By RAYMOND MOLEY

In the weeks which intervene between a nationwide election and the beginning of the congressional session in January, a condition prevails in the news-gathering and printing industry which, often in the past I have called the news gap. Space has to be filled, and if nothing newsworthy is happening, two courses are open to our esteemed profession of journalism. Either we must speculate about what will happen or we must blow up little things to fill our columns.

Some years ago when I served as research director of the New York Crime Commission, I projected an inquiry into what was called "crime waves."

It seemed that there was always a spate of news about crime in the period when the days were growing shorter and wintery temperatures were closing in. Sentimentalists believed that, since the rigors of climate were growing more severe, poor people were driven by hunger and gold to despoil their fellow citizens of items of property by felonious methods.

THOSE WERE the piping days before the depression, and I doubted this sentimental theory. In pursuing my researches I found that the police records failed to validate the existence of an increase in crime in those weeks.

Further researches indicated clearly that what was happening was not a crime wave, but a wave of crime news. For crime is always with us, and it can always be used to fill gaps in the news.

At this season, when the streets and stores are filled with shoppers, automobiles are clogging the streets and highways, and the true spirit of Yuletide is buried in harassed wishing for the 26th of December, political commentators are, among others, worried by the lack of events to fill their allotted space.

Two subjects are always at hand, even in the most breathless holiday quiet. One is the so-called rift in the Republican party. The other is speculation about who will or should be designated as the burnt offering in the next presidential election. Of course, there also is the coming deficit to comment upon and, this year, the possibility of a tax cut.

I have already considered the latter two in these essays. The deficit will be whopping. But anyone who tries to estimate its size is wasting his time. Certainly, it will have as little relevance to what the President announces in his budget message as estimates of the age of Archie Moore. It will be whatever anyone chooses to guess, and your guess is likely to be as accurate as that of the President.

THE POSSIBILITY of a tax cut and what the nature of a possible tax cut will be are equally speculative. Maybe we shall know something about that when the flowers bloom again in northern latitudes, perhaps not until he dog days in August.

Now so far as the "rift" in the Republican party is concerned, this is stale news. Indeed, it is not news at all. As far back as 1896, when Republicans were selecting a presidential candidate there was a 1.03 vicious contest between the Hanna faction, which was backing McKinley, and the Eastern-Wall Street people, who were supporting Thomas B. Reed, speaker of the House.

The division was between the banking interests who were internationally minded, favored free trade and a gold standard, and the Midwestern Manufacturing interests who believed in protection and were not wholly orthodox in the money question. Republican divisions on other issues persisted for many years.

With the great differences in the constituencies of the states, these differences will remain.

Sen. Javis is a product of the voting majority in New York, just as Sen. Kuchel represents the peculiar interests of California.

Differences are inevitable in a national party and must be lived with. They do not necessarily mean the dissolution of the party. The Democrats have like divisions.

Those who envision a homogeneous party constituency are pursuing a vain hope. These differences are matters to be lived with and measurably adjusted by the processes of nomination and party compromises.

SPECULATION about a candidate in 1964 is an idle exercise. If the Republican party organizations in the states are overhauled and improved, any one of several candidates has a chance to win. Without such improvements no candidate can win.

So in these days of scant news, let us praise what we read with a reminder that in only a few weeks we shall have Congress with us again. That is always amusing and sometimes genuinely interesting.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: What is to become of the American female if some high-fashion nut decides we should all wear laundry bags?

I am appalled at the sheep instinct of the style-conscious woman. Everyone wants to look like the president's wife. Common sense and judgment is out. "The Look" is in.

Short, squat women are drowned in bulky tweeds. The boot devours 5 inches of leg from the shortie who should try for the longer look. The giraffe type gets herself up in leopard spots and tiger stripes and looks 8 feet tall. Everyone wants plaid hair and green eyelids.

A friend who came here recently from Japan said, "How do American men tell their women apart? They all look alike."

Why this craze for sameness? Are we becoming so neurotic we wish to lose our identity? Please explain. — OMNIBUS.

Dear Omnibus: There is no explanation for the way women get themselves up. And there never was. In the '90s females suffered tortures in boned corsets. They wore tons of hair, layers of underskirts and high-buttoned shoes.

Style satisfies the woman's need to be "in." In what, exactly, no one has been able to say.

Strange and Sad

Dear Ann: I read recently that you have received more than a half million letters. I'll bet this will be the strangest letter of all. I'm the happiest woman in the world. My husband died last month. He finally drank himself to death.

The children no longer look at me with sad eyes and ask, "What's the matter with Daddy that makes him so mean?" I no longer have to look myself and the little ones in the bedroom to protect us against their father's brutality and physical violence.

Can you imagine what it does to a 12-year-old boy to have to help undress a father who has passed out and drag him on to a bed?

I always have supported the family. How much easier it will be now with no liquor bills, jail fines and attorney's fees. On Thanksgiving I truly had something to be thankful for. — FREE AT LAST.

Dear Free: I would be hard-pressed to select the strangest letter I've ever received, but yours is surely one of the most heartbreaking. How sad when a father dies that there should be rejoicing.

History Today

Today is Friday, Dec. 7, the 341st day of 1962. There are 24 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1941, Japan attacked the U.S. naval base at Pearl Harbor and also struck at the Philippines, Guam, Hong Kong and Malaya.

On this day: In 1842, the New York Philharmonic Society presented its first public concert.

In 1917, the United States declared war on Austria-Hungary.

In 1944, the U.S. announced the sinking of all six Japanese aircraft carriers which participated in the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

In 1954, Shigoru Coshida resigned as Japanese premier.

Today's birthdays: Artist Stuart Davis is 68. Major league pitcher Dick Donovan is 25.

Gamble Paid Off

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—An inability to draw horses led cartoonist Herb Gardner to seek fame as a playwright—and he won on his very first try.

"I've always associated horses with the unemployment problem," said Herb, author of the current Broadway comedy hit, "A Thousand Clowns," starring Jason Robards Jr.

"Most of the times I left jobs it was because sooner or later the boss would ask me to draw a horse, and I couldn't. When I drew a horse it looked like a cross between a dog and radio city."

At 27, tall and curly-haired, Gardner himself looks like a cross between Thomas Wolfe and Orson Welles when they were that age.

Herb started yearning to be a writer at 13. He learned the rudiments of stagecraft in his youth by working as an orange juice salesman and hat checker in Times Square theaters, and recalls seeing one play 140 times.

There followed several frustrating years as a commercial artist, years in which he sculptured bunnies and walrus for a toy firm or drew endless panels in animated film cartoons.

Gardner was making a good living as creator of the Nebbish comic strip when he decided to chuck it all and gamble on his writing skill. Working in a cheap unheated West Side apartment, he turned out "A Thousand Clowns" in 2½ years. It rang an immediate bell.

His experience has made Herb something of an apostle for the philosophy of chance-taking.

"Too many people are working merely to buy time," he said.

"They work just to have Saturday and Sunday off."

"I didn't want to go on buying time, because I was afraid I might find the time I bought I was merely using to buy more time."

"There is too much living for the time being. People should do now all the things they'll wish 30 years from now they'd done."

With the royalty money rolling in, Herb and Rita, his actress wife, are now busy furnishing an expensive six-room apartment on the East Side. But the acclaim that greeted his first play hasn't gone to his head.

Man Says Survival Training Saved Life

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (AP)—One of a trio of skiers who spent three freezing nights on 10,750-foot Mt. Baker in northwest Washington, says Air Force survival training saved his life.

Air Force Lt. David Kozak, 24, of Buffalo, N.Y., was hospitalized Wednesday for frostbite and exposure after his rescue, said he and two others tunneled into the snow at night, huddled together and slept on pine boughs.

Air Force Lt. John Melien, 22, Lindstrom, Minn., was suffering from extensive frostbite and exposure. His condition was described as serious. Kozak and Melien are stationed at McChord Air Force Base near Tacoma, Wash.

A third man, Donald I. McKinnon of Vancouver, B.C., was hospitalized in Abbotsford, B.C., apparently in fair condition with frostbitten feet.

The three men had no food and ran out of matches the first night. A search party found them trying to climb a cliff in a rugged canyon a few miles from Mt. Baker Lodge.

Married women outnumbered married men 42.7 million to 42.4 million, in the United States 1960 census.

President To Tour Scientific Centers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will view a nuclear-fissioned hole in the ground in Nevada on his weekend tour of military and scientific centers in the Midwest and Far West.

The White House, in announcing Kennedy's schedule, said he will fly over the U.S. nuclear weapons test ground in southern Nevada on Saturday. Among other things he will see the crater—1,200 feet across and several hundred feet deep—that was dug by a nuclear detonation equivalent to 100,000 tons of TNT in a test explosion last July.

Kennedy leaves Washington Friday morning, landing first at Offutt Air Force Base in Omaha, Neb., for a tour of the Strategic Air Command underground headquarters and a secret briefing.

He goes from there to Santa Fe, N.M., arriving early in the afternoon, for a tour of the Los Alamos scientific laboratory where he'll get a briefing on the Rover nuclear-powered rocket project.

By helicopter he travels to Kirtland Air Force Base, near Albuquerque, N.M., for another tour and more briefing, this time at the nearby Sandia Corp. plant where many of the items used in nuclear bombs and warheads are made.

He will stay overnight at Albuquerque, attending Mass at the base chapel Saturday morning—a Roman Catholic observance of the Feast of the Immaculate Conception.

After Mass, Kennedy will fly to Indian Springs Air Force Base in Nevada. Then he takes a helicopter ride over the nuclear testing grounds en route to a tour of three installations at the nuclear development station near Las Vegas, Nev.

After that Kennedy skips over to Palm Springs, Calif., for a day and a half of relaxation. He will stay at singer Bing Crosby's home leaving Sunday night for an overnight flight back to Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Van L. Thaxton

Eva Starbuck Becomes Bride of Van L. Thaxton

Rev. Raymond Grams, pastor of the Boston Heights Friends Church, officiated at the wedding of Miss Eva Deane Starbuck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Starbuck of the Goshen Road, to Van L. Thaxton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Thaxton of 120 Fell Ave., Northfield, Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the First United Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Bruce Milligan, pastor of the church, assisted at the double ring service.

Twin vases of poinsettias decorated the altar, and Schefflera and grape ivy banked the chancel to form a background as the bride was escorted by her father down an aisle whose pew ends were marked with white satin bows.

For her wedding the bride wore a princess styled white satin gown with wide scooped neckline embroidered with crystals and pearls and long tapered sleeves ending in points at the wrists. Deep unpressed pleats fashioned the full skirt, featuring a bustle effect in the back tapering to a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a queens crown of pearlized orange blossoms, and she carried her sister's Bible topped with an arrangement of white fuji mums centered with white shasta pompons.

Mrs. Carroll Hieronimus was a her sister's matron of honor. She wore a street-length dress of red satin with scooped neckline, cap sleeves and unpressed pleated full skirt.

Bridesmaids were Miss Charlotte Handwork and Miss Donna Wiles, wearing emerald green satin, all fashioned like that of and Miss Donnette Sanor in gold sari, all fashioned like that of the matron of honor. The attendants complemented their dresses with white fur hats and white fur muffs centered with small arrangements of poinsettias and holly.

Debbie Conrad, cousin of the bride, was flower girl in red and white organza, an Michael Lee Hieronimus, nephew of the bride, carried the rings on a heart shaped white satin pillow.

The mother of the bride wore a silk print dress in black and brown, and Mrs. Thaxton a blue satin gown. Both mothers had corsages of miniature carnations.

A five-tier cake graced the bride's table at the reception in the church Fellowship Hall. Ruffled white organza over white satin covered the table, and red poinsettias, pine and white pompons circled the bottom of the cake. Twin three-branch candelabra lighted the decor. Serving were Mrs. Donald Althouse, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Mae Smith, Mrs. Dean Lautzenheiser, and Miss Lisa Petrachkoff.

He said currently American and British doctors are adapting it to use in special fields, especially in psychology and mental disorders, and frequently it shortens the treatment time by years.

Some of Milady's Gifts High-Priced Too

That $11,500 Chinese Boat In Santa's Pack Isn't Junk

By RICHARD SPONG

Santa, baby, just slip a sable under the tree—for me—Been an awful good girl, Santa Baby—so hurry down the chimney tonight.—From an old Eartha Kitt madrigal.

Some people seem to know what the ancient minnesinger who caroled about the 12 days of Christmas had in mind. People like Nieman - Marcus, Sulka's, Abercrombie & Fitch, Cartier, Van Cleef and Arpels—that bunch. What they have in store for you this year!

Nieman - Marcus is even taking some of the load off Santa's aching back. The Texas department store is offering a confidential shopping service for "customers who find themselves in the position of sending gifts to those in high position — kings, shahs, maharajahs, prime ministers and other dignitaries." Billing will be by telephone only and the nature of such gifts will be divulged "only on a court subpoena." So now they're telling Billy Sol?

AS USUAL, most of the Yuletide loot is fashioned for milady. Hattie Carnegie, for example, is offering a "Carole Lombard dinner pajama" at a swift $275. But N. & M. makes that look like an outfit for a cheap date with its white cowboy (girl) chaps at $1,875. They come with matching white silk blouse ($90), satin pants ($90), white kidskin belt ($30), and cowboy hat ($250). Honest to Pete, that's what the catalogue says.

That French perfume is still advertising itself chastely as the "costliest in the world." Cartier has for madame an "Indian Chief with emerald headband, sapphire eyes and diamond moccasins" at a conservative $985. Federal tax is included, natch.

For something far out, a mail order jeweler will send you solid gold garters at $15 each or $55 a set of four. (Reliable sources report that to keep stockings really straight a girdle should have six.)

Not that Old Dad is being exactly shrubbed. A Sulka & Company (Anybody ever figure what the A. stands for?) has issued its usual "list of immodest gift suggestions" featuring hand-some leopard skin gloves priced at $125. And Sulka always is ready to do up his-and-her lounging robes at $1,200 the set. The material is vicuna (remember?).

For the outdoor type, Abercrombie has a gun at $3,200, not including tax. Or how about N. & M.'s real Chinese junk at $11,500 f.o.b. Houston.

The International Silk Association has conned some necktie people into whipping up four-in-hands named for heroes of the arts. Aulka's Shakespeare comes at $4.95, but for Chopin Countess Mara wants 30 cocoon-pickin' bucks.

AH, HOW sweet it is! For the whole family Steuben Glass has an engraved glass bowl — Mother and Child — for a mere $3,300. Most aquariums are prepared to sell you a pair of fancy gold fish for $50. And today's canary cages come with 14-carat gold trim.

When Santa cranks up Rudolph the old R. N. Reindeer this year, he shouldn't forget a turnpike toll gun, this designed to shoot quarters and nickels with "heart-warming accuracy" into exact change toll baskets.

An outfit which calls itself The Nineteenth Century C. can furnish him for $149.95 a pair of coach lamps "like those which graced the carriages of French nobility." And one last-minute gift. A New York store has come up — for $25 — with a Nothing Box. This is a device which has eight eyes which "wink in no recognizable pattern." It doesn't do anything else, but it's guaranteed to run for a whole year. You can't turn it off.

"Christmas is coming, the geese are getting fat, Please to put a penny in the old man's hat."

Down with taxes! Long live the '63 Dependable Dodge! Fellow citizens, the '63 Dodges gives you a 5-year or 50,000-mile warranty on all major parts. (How's that for my platform, Harry?)

You'll clean up, George, because the Dodge warranty pays for labor, too.

FIVE-YEAR/50,000-MILE WARRANTY. Your authorized Dodge Dealer's Warranty against defects in material and workmanship on 1963 cars has been expanded to include parts replacement or repair for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first; on the engine block, head and internal parts; transmission case and internal parts; torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints (excluding dust covers), rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings—provided this vehicle has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Dodge Certified Car Care schedule.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks: Many of us make gelatin salads. About the cutest trick I have found, which can do for salads or desserts . . . is to use my muffin tin for a mold. I happen to have a 12-cup muffin tin. In half of the muffin tins I grate carrots or cabbage, or both, therefore making a beautiful individual salad which may be topped with mayonnaise.

I just set the muffin tins on my refrigerator shelf. This can be held for a few days.

So . . . one night I use the little molds for dessert topped with whipped cream.

The following night I use those into which I have dropped the grated cabbage for another salad, and so on. . . . Any type of fruits, vegetables, or pecans can be used for variation. Try sliced stuffed olives! Great.

This saves me the problem of what can I have for a salad to-night besides lettuce and tomatoes. It's all ready, can be put in any plate immediately, and if some member of the family gets hungry in between times. . . there is always something to nibble on. Grease the inside of the muffin tin with mayonnaise before putting gelatin in them and they come out easier!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is an excerpt from a folder of a company that sells teakettles:

For lime coated teakettles—in some localities, the water leaves a grayish or white coating of lime and iron oxide inside.

This coating thickens with continued use of your teakettle and reduces the efficiency of your range. To prevent a deposit from forming, empty the teakettle when it has stood unused overnight or for several hours.

If the teakettle already has a coating of lime fill with a solution of water and vinegar—half water and half vinegar — and bring to boil.

Let the solution stand in the teakettle for several hours or overnight. This softens the deposit so that it may be removed by tapping the bottom and sides of the kettle gently to loosen the coating or by scraping it off with a wooden spoon or paddle.

If the teakettle has a closed top, turn it upside down after removing the solution and firmly tap the bottom with a wooden mallet or similar object. This will break the lime coating into small pieces which can then be shaken out.

KATHERINE B. WILSON.

DEAR HELOISE: This tip is especially useful on cool damp days when it is hard to dry heavy socks.

I lay the socks flat on my oven racks with only the pilot light on in the oven. Light-weight socks will dry in about an hour. Heavy ones will dry overnight.

I sometimes dry underwear, in an emergency, this way in the er. It's not, since the pilot light is on, an emergency, this way in the winter. It doesn't cost anything, either, since he pilot light is on anyway, and it sure saves me lots of time.

MRS. W. KERNS.
Ot works. Just remember, ONLY the pilot light.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: To remove tar from little boys' clothes, there is nothing like "Old Faithful" — kerosene. Kerosene is the only thing that I have found that I can use on brightly colored synthetics. Many thanks.

MRS. O. G. RUDOLF.

DEAR HELOISE: For those who have hot air registers and floor furnaces . . . place a fan behind the floor furnace and you can blow the warm air in any direction you wish it to go.

For instance, our floor furnace is between our living room and dining room. During the day I place my fan behind the register to blow the air into the living room. When dinner time comes, I turn the fan around the other way and it blows the warm air into the dining room!!

MRS. R. C. G.

DEAR HELOISE: For the member of the family, small or grown-up, who cannot swallow a pill or tablet, place it in a teaspoon of applesauce and it's no trouble at all to swallow!!

You, Heloise, would be surprised at the number of grown ups who cannot swallow a pill with a sip of water.

MRS. C. R. MCCLURE
Who's surprised? You hit the nail on the head when you told me that one!

HELOISE.

A REVOLUTIONARY ACHIEVEMENT

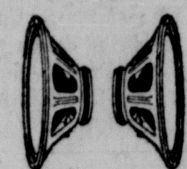

the magnificent Magnavox new ASTRO-SONIC Stereo High Fidelity

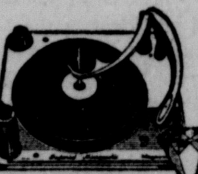

New solid state circuitry — a by-product of the billion dollar space age — gives ten times the efficiency of a comparable tube set — uses but one-tenth the power — no more than a small light bulb.

New, large exponential treble horns — ten times as efficient as conventional cone speakers — reproduce treble tones without a blemish of distortion.

High efficiency 15" bass woofers give you bass definition you have never heard before.

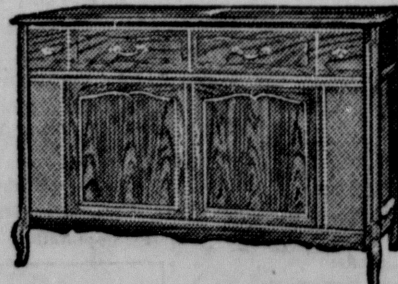

A new "Micromatic 60" record player completely eliminates pitch distortion — for the turntable speed is as accurate as your electric clock! The new pick-up plays at only 1/10 ounce touch, banishing record and stylus wear — therefore the diamond stylus is guaranteed for ten years and your records can last a lifetime.

This astounding development exceeds all previous accomplishments in the perfect recreation of music — Stereophonics from FM radio as well as records with incredible fidelity, to give you the greatest musical entertainment you have ever experienced — and all this without a single tube!

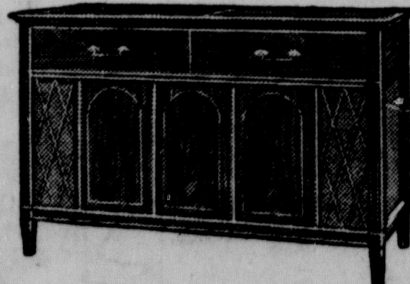

The Astro-Sonic has such great tonal dimension it can fill a concert hall like a full symphony orchestra — and in your home can "whisper" the full beauty of music, or shake the walls with the crescendo of a great symphony.

Vacuum tubes and components damaging heat — the source of most service troubles — are eliminated. The Astro-Sonic is so reliable that the parts are guaranteed for five years — twenty times as long as the standard industry guarantee for tube sets. $550

Nikita May Remove Troops From Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. authorities expect the Soviet Union to withdraw thousands of troops from Cuba now that Red bombers and missiles have been pulled from the island.

American intelligence sources estimate there are 9,000 to 15,000 Soviet troops in Cuba. Many were loads of snow or snow flurries will occur.

The storm, described as the worst in Ohio in a dozen years, left a heavy cover of snow across broad areas from the Great Lakes into New York and southward into Tennessee.

Cold weather added to the wintry picture. Temperatures tumbled sharply as gusty winds fanned the snow and cold air in a wide sweep across the Ohio Valley to the Southern Appalachians and Mid-Atlantic Coast. Freezing weather chilled northern Florida.

18 Deaths from Storm

The late autumn storm was blamed for at least 18 deaths, most of them in traffic accidents on snow-covered highways.

The heavy snow in Ohio delayed trains and buses, grounded planes, shut down at least 50 factories and closed virtually all schools in a wide area and caused hundreds of accidents.

The storm, moving into northern Ohio late Wednesday afternoon from the south, was powered this morning by winds of 30 to 35 miles an hour, with gusts up to 50 miles an hour. Temperature hovered near the freezing point.

The depth was not as great as in other snowstorms, but the strong, biting winds piled up snow drifts as high as five feet.

Driving—where possible—was a nightmare. Hundreds of cars and trucks stalled, blocking practically all secondary roads.

Turnpike Traffic Snarled
Bottlenecks at some Ohio Turnpike exits backed up traffic for six miles.

Most drivers on the 241-mile toll road were not going faster than 20 miles an hour.

Some 30,000 customers of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company were without power, many since Thursday night. Snow-laden lines snapped and others were knocked down by high winds.

A CEI spokesman described the situation in the company's 117-square mile area as "a pretty bad mess." One hundred and thirty-four extra men were called in to assist 100 men who worked throughout the night. Additional crews were summoned from utility companies in Columbus, Toledo, Dayton and Canton.

The heavy snow belt extended over Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York state, West Virginia and Maryland with smaller amounts in Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee. Hazardous driving conditions were reported in many areas.

The storm dumped 14 inches of snow in Olean, in western New York.

Police Investigate 2 Traffic Mishaps

Salem police investigated two minor accidents Thursday afternoon. No one was injured, but each of the four cars involved was slightly damaged.

Cars driven by Ruth A. Stiffer of RD 2, Salem, and Eli Stamer of 979 Liberty St. collided at the intersection of Newgarden Ave. and Liberty St. at 3:45 p.m. The accident happened when Stamer attempted to halt for a stop sign and skidded on snow-covered road. The front ends of both vehicles were damaged.

At 12:45 p.m., a car being driven north on S. Union Ave. by Robert Schaefer of 988 S. Union Ave. and a car being driven east on Maple St. by Don R. Smith of 684 Jefferson St. collided at the intersection.

Smog Loosens Grip on London

Leaves 106 Dead, Many Hospitalized

LONDON (AP)—The worst smog in a decade loosened its lethal four-day grip on London today, leaving 106 known dead and more than 1,000 in hospitals.

Dense patches persisted in parts of the British capital, but in most places the sun finally seeped wanly through a thin blue haze in mid-morning.

"London is like an oasis, completely ringed by a slowly clearing fog belt," said a spokesman for the British Automobile Association.

Visibility rose to 150 yards at London Airport, and weathermen said it should increase to an operational 2,000 yards later. At midday, not one civil aircraft had been able to get in or out of the airport in 88 hours.

Still fogbound in the Thames Estuary, downriver from London, were more than 170 ships, many carrying Christmas foodstuffs badly needed in the nation's shops.

Commuter trains into London were up to 20 minutes late during the early morning rush hour. Main line trains on longer hauls ran up to 3½ hours behind schedule.

Heavy fog still was reported in the eastern counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, with visibility on the roads averaging 25 yards. Ice on highways in many areas also made driving hazardous.

Hazy sunshine was forecast in most parts of the British Isles until nightfall. The prediction was that frost and fog would return during the night through patches in the southeastern part of the country.

Mild, cloudy weather, with rain or drizzle, is expected to set in Saturday.

The smog settled in Monday night and eased once for a few hours Thursday. But Thursday night London groaned to a standstill again as the black pall descended.

Except for a few stragglers, all the city's buses returned to their depots by 10:30 p.m., two hours before normal quitting time. Train schedules remained in chaos.

Even in the brightly lit West End, people groped their way through the shrouded shopping streets.

At the height of it all, Sir Winston Churchill went out to dine. The 88-year-old war leader spent 2½ hours at the Savoy Hotel with friends of the other Club, an exclusive dining group he helped found 51 years ago. He came out in the muck with a smile and a "v" sign.

Outside London, dozens of automobile accidents occurred on icy roads, and fog still blanketed many parts of the country. Traffic fatalities were surprisingly few because more and more drivers left their automobiles at home.

Kennedy Greet Stevenson Warmly In Public Meeting

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson and President Kennedy, meeting in public for the first time since the tempest over the U.N. ambassador's role in the Cuban crisis, shook hands warmly Thursday night.

Stevenson, quick as ever with a quip, introduced Kennedy as "the author, producer, director and star of Mr. Khrushchev's new hit play in Moscow—'A Funny Thing Happened to Me on My Way to Cuba.'"

Kiwanians Plan For Installation

Plans were made by the Kiwanis Club for its installation of officers banquet Jan. 10 at St. Paul's Elementary School when the group met Thursday at the Memorial Building for its final business meeting of the year.

Guests were Paul Smith, superintendent of the school system; E. S. Kerr, former superintendent of the school system and members of the Columbiana Kiwanis Club. Sixty-two persons were present.

During a brief discussion on the possibility of acquiring the old post office building for school use, Mr. Kerr stated that it would probably cost between $50,000 and $60,000 to renovate the downtown building.

The group indicated interest in hearing more about the project and invited Mr. Smith and Mr. Kerr to present a planned program on the matter at the Jan. 17 meeting.

The next meeting will be a Christmas program Thursday at the Memorial Building, with Rev. Harold Deitch of the Salem Christian Church in charge.

PLAN YULE PARTY

LISBON — A Christmas party featuring a covered dinner will be held by the Unity Township Progressive Home Makers Group Thursday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Clarence Ward, 425 W. North Ave., East Palestine, according to Floyd Lower, county extension agent in agriculture.

Stevenson said he was "proud to be a member of the supporting cast."

The occasion of their meeting was the Kennedy Foundation awards dinner where the President handed checks to four foreign scientists for work against mental retardation.

In the background were echoes of the clamor set off this week by a magazine article—co-authored by a close friend of the President—which portrayed Stevenson as having advocated a soft line in the Cuban crisis.

The article set off speculation that someone in the administration was "out to get Adlai." Apparently in an effort to still the talk, the President made public a letter Wednesday expressing his "fullest confidence" in Stevenson.

Thursday night, presiding at the dinner, Stevenson received a standing ovation.

Stevenson remarked that the United Nations may soon be crying for peace "and I have been crying for it in the past week."

"But despite what has happened," Stevenson added, "I am convinced that most of the press of this country follows Joseph Pulitzer's remark that accuracy is to a newspaper what virtue is to a woman—except, as someone has pointed out, a newspaper can always print a retraction."

Stevenson previously had denounced the Saturday Evening Post article as inaccurate and a gross misrepresentation of his position.

The story, written by Washington newsmen Stewart Alsop and Charles Bartlett, a close Kennedy friend, quoted anonymous but apparently high ranking officials as saying Stevenson dissented from Kennedy's decision to set up a naval blockade around Cuba and advocated a diplomatic approach.

In his talk Thursday night, Kennedy made no mention of the Cuban crisis.

Shut-Ins

ty churches or other interested people in her area.

"It will be the responsibility of the contact members of each locality to locate the elderly men and women who need the homemaker services and to secure available homemakers who will go into homes to help shut-ins," Mrs. Stiver said.

The service may range from a half-day each week to a full week in the cases of emergencies, such as people returning from the hospital. The duties of homemaker may include shopping, cooking hot meals, light housework and some personal services.

All workers in the program will be volunteers except homemakers who do the actual work.

6 County Areas Established
To facilitate complete coverage of the county with as little traveling as possible, the county has been divided into these six areas:

1) West from Route 9 at the western border of Perry Township and going west and south to Carroll County line, including Damascus through Hanoverton.

2) South central section from Bethesda road to county line including Salineville and 10 miles east from Carroll County line.

3) Southeast section east from the end of area 2 to Beaver County line and south from Williamsport to the Ohio River and including Wellsville and East Liverpool.

4) Northeast section running east from Route 7 to Lawrence County line and south to meet the northern boundary of area 3, including East Palestine, Negley and Rogers.

5) North central section including all of Perry Township east to Route 7 and taking in Salem, Leetonia, Washingtonville and Columbiana.

6) Central section meeting all surrounding area borders with Lisbon as the central point.

This county division makes about a 10-mile section for each area.

Mrs. Stiver said the commission hope to have a friendly visitor announcement within the week. Also being planned is a program in which county visiting nurses may give special assistance as a supplement to the homemaker program.

Doctors and ministers in the county are asked to notify Mrs. McConnor or Miss Gibson of people needing this service and especially people who will act as area chairmen or contact personnel in each area.

Cooperating in the homemaker service are the County Welfare Department and the Aid for the Aged office.

Kennedy Continues To Tour West's Defense Installations

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy flew west on this Pearl Harbor anniversary to visit the command post and development sites for the swift and terrible nuclear response to any future attack.

The big presidential jet plane took off at 8:35 a.m. from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., heading first for Strategic Air Command headquarters near Omaha, Neb. Flight time was estimated at 2 hours and 25 minutes.

This was the first leg of a three-day trip that also will take the President to top-secret nuclear development and testing stations in New Mexico and Nevada.

Before returning to Washington Monday morning, the chief executive will spend a day and a half relaxing at crooner Bing Crosby's home at Palm Desert, Calif.

Joining Kennedy for the military part of the tour were a dozen dignitaries including Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, chairman Glenn T. Seaborg of the Atomic Energy Commission, Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert and military chiefs of the armed services.

The timing of the trip to SAC headquarters at Offutt AFB was unusual on two counts. First, it coincided with the 21st anniversary of Japan's sneak attack on the Pearl Harbor naval base—the signal for American entry into World War II. Second, it came as SAC was preparing to place the first Minuteman intercontinental missiles in combat-ready status. The solid fuel Minuteman can carry a nuclear punch 6,300 miles. Eventually, 800 of these missiles will form the core of the nation's deterrent power.

The White House, announcing the trip, did not mention the Dec. 7 anniversary.

The official announcement said Kennedy's motive for the tour was a desire to see for himself the progress being made by "Project Rover" scientists who are working on a nuclear-powered rocket engine, being developed at Los Alamos, N.M., and tested near Las Vegas, Nev.

If hopes for "Rover" are realized the engine may propel the first American to land on the moon.

On the schedule for Kennedy's 2½-hour stay at Offutt were trips through subterranean command rooms, one containing the famous "red phone"—the war phone over which the President would have to give a direct order before SAC's bombers and missiles could unload their burden of nuclear terror on the homeland of an enemy.

The Arizona Memorial honors all dead of the Japanese attack. A total of 2,403 men perished in the terrible moments of a Sunday morning that marked America's entry into World War II. The Arizona died eight minutes after taking a bomb down her stack.

Four battleships were sunk, one was heavily damaged and three sustained light damage. Six—California, Maryland, Nevada, Tennessee, Pennsylvania and West Virginia—returned to carry the war to Japan. Only the Arizona and the Oklahoma, which sank while being towed to the West Pearl Harbor.

A former battleship, the target vessel Utah, was sent to the bottom in the attack. The Utah's rusting hulk still rests in the mud, a tomb for 54 men.

The carrier Constellation—largest in the Pacific—stood alongside the Arizona Thursday and 4,000 members of her crew lined the deck to pay homage to the fallen warship.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Don't Let Frostbite Nip You

If you live in the northern part of the country you may be exposed to frostbite on some of our coldest days. If you live in Florida you may want to go up North to visit the grandchildren at Christmas. If you have any impairment of the circulation, such as hardening of the arteries or varicose veins of hands or feet, exposure to temperatures below 10 degrees Fahrenheit can be hazardous.

The feet are especially vulnerable because the "blood can get down to them, all right, but has a hard time making the return trip. For this reason you should never stand still on a very cold day while waiting for the bus.

Keep the circulation going by pacing back and forth, or, if you are afraid you'll lose your place in line, you can at least rock back and forth on your heels and toes.

IF YOUR FEET actually become frozen, the picture changes. In that case walking aggravates the damage and the quicker you can get off your feet and be transported to a warm place the better.

Some people can stand the cold better than others. Even in the same person, the ability to tolerate cold may vary from time to time.

The factors that determine how much damage is done are the temperature of the part (toes, fingers, nose, or ears), the duration of the exposure, the humidity, the wind velocity, and the health condition of the person exposed.

Warning sensations include a stinging pain and numbness in the part. Sometimes a person whose foot has become numb due to frostbite has thought that the foot was asleep and has hopped up and down to get the circulation going.

This causes the tiny ice crystals that have formed in the tissues to act as needles and increase the damage. It is also a great mistake to remove a shoe and massage the foot. The massage will add to the injury and the injured foot will swell so that the shoe cannot be put on again.

THE OLD IDEAS of treatment which included slowly rewarming a frostbitten part have been shown to be wrong. The part should be put in a warm bath (100-108 degrees Fahrenheit). Once the part has been rewarmed it should be left exposed to the air at a temperature of 70 to 78. Bandaging is not necessary.

The best treatment of frostbite, as with any other disorder, is not to get in the first place. When the thermometer approaches zero don't stay out any longer than is necessary.

If you must walk a great distance in the city, pop in and out of stores along the way. Protect the feet, hands, and face and do as many errands as possible over the telephone. When you do go out, keep moving.

$3,000 Collected Here In Mental Clinic Drive

Salem campaign workers have raised almost $3,000 of the city's $5,000 quota in the county's mental health clinic drive, it was reported today.

Contributions may be turned in locally to the First National Bank or the Farmers National Bank or mailed to the Columbiana County Mental Health Clinic Fund, P. O. Box 147, Lisbon.

Probate Judge Louis Tobin, chairman of the county drive, announced a total of $11,243 has been collected throughout the county toward the goal of $20,000. If the drive is successful, the state will provide $40,000 for construction of the clinic.

Mississippi State, probably one of the strongest college basketball teams in the country, isn't likely to go anywhere.

Not that they won't win a bundle of games, maybe even more than any other team in the rugged Southeastern Conference. And that includes potent Kentucky.

But the Bulldogs are barred by tradition from competing against schools with Negro players. That eliminates them from the NCAA and NIT post-season events, just as it did last season.

So about all the Bulldogs can shoot for—in addition to the SEC title—is improving on last season's record. That may take a bit of doing, since Mississippi State was 24-1 for the year and 13-1 in the conference, matching Kentucky for the top.

Coach Babe McCarthy's veteran crew, ranked fifth in the nation, appears to be well on its way. They showed adiversified, accurate attack which powered them past Louisiana Tech 80-61 Thursday night, their second straight triumph this season and 15th in a row.

St. Bonaventure, trying to regain a spot in the national ratings, romped to an 80-56 triumph over Villa Madonna, unbeaten New Mexico scored a surprisingly easy 90-66 victory over Texas Tech, Notre Dame's young team beat St. Francis, Pa., 101-70, Illinois trimmed Washington of St. Louis 99-55 and Utah beat Los Angeles State 94-66.

Columbia beat Colgate 78-67, Georgia topped South Carolina 85-72, Georgia Tech bombed Southern Methodist 73-56, Florida romped over Florida State 80-59, Boston College beat Harvard 57-45, and Miami, Fla. defeated Rhode Island 88-80.

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — Cactus Jack Curtice bowed out officially as Stanford's head football coach Thursday night amidst cheers of his players at an awards banquet here.

Curtice, 55, was fired Nov. 27 after compiling a record of 14 wins and 36 losses for the Indians over a five-year period.

Giants Picked To Beat Browns

3 NFL Teams Tied For 2nd Place In Eastern Division

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — With the New York Giants firmly tucked away as the National Football League's Eastern Conference champions for the second straight year, the Western title and a frantic scramble to determine the second-place finisher in the East occupy this weekend's attention.

The Washington Redskins, at the break-even point of 5-5-2 after their fine start, make a do-or-die bid for second in the East Saturday afternoon, in Baltimore against the Colts, in a nationally televised game (CBS). A victory would keep them in the running with Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Dallas, all aiming at a spot in the Playoff Bowl at Miami Jan. 5 against the Western runner-up.

Green Bay can clinch a tie for its third consecutive Western Conference title by beating San Francisco Sunday on the West Coast. A Packer victory plus an upset of Detroit by the Minnesota Vikings would make the Packers champs. Otherwise, the title won't be decided until next Sunday's wind-up when Green Bay takes on the Los Angeles Rams and Detroit plays rugged Chicago. The Bears host the Rams this Sunday.

This week's selections (last week 7 correct, 4 wrong; season total, 78 correct, 43 wrong, 5 ties):

NFL

Green Bay over San Francisco—Powerful Packers want to wrap up the Western title on their own. San Francisco offense no mystery to Green Bay's rugged defense.

Detroit over Minnesota—Lions had close call against Vikings three weeks ago, but bail-out artist Earl Morrall came to rescue, and he did it again last week.

New York over Cleveland—Even if Giants do ease off and use their reserves, Browns' inconsistent attack led by Frank Ryan and fullback Jimmy Brown, doesn't carry Y. A. Little-Alex Webster sting.

Philadelphia over Pittsburgh—Eagles on beam with Pete Retzlaff back to catch Sonny Jurgensen's passes. Steelers' defense can't do it all and its offense is battered.

Baltimore over Washington—Johnny Unitas' receivers, Raymond Berry and Jimmy Orr, and Colt runners Mark Smolinski and Lenny Moore, too much for Redskins. And Washington quarterback Norm Snead has very little left in way of running help.

Dallas over St. Louis—Cowboys' 1-2 quarterback punch of Don Meredith and Eddie LeBaron healthy again while the poor Cards could use either one in their attack.

Los Angeles over Chicago—Rams have received the quarterbacking they needed from rookie Roman Gabriel and he and his mates may find the Bears a little down after last week's tough loss to New York.

AFL

Buffalo over New York—Despite Johnny Green's aerial strike to Art Powell and Don Maynard, crushing running of Cookie Gilchrist and Jack Kemp's aerial artistry point to Bills.

Houston over Oakland—Oilers on patented late-season rush for third straight Eastern title and hapless Raiders won't stop George Blanda's passing and Charlie Tolar's rushing.

San Diego over Boston—The Chargers' big defense may prove too troublesome for Pats' Tom Yewcic, who had to scramble to beat Titans in fourth period last week.

Dallas over Denver—Texans had bad game last week while Broncos have not been able to regroup a battered defense.

Fiss Named Browns' Top Grid Player

CLEVELAND (AP) — Galen Fiss, the alert defensive captain for the Cleveland Browns, was pleased at being named the outstanding member of the 1962 Browns, but he left no doubt he was disappointed with the way things turned out for the Browns this year.

"I felt we were good enough to win it (the National Football League championship)," Fiss said. The 6-foot, 227-pound linebacker was given the "outstanding" tag Thursday by the Touchdown Club, which will honor him at the annual dinner Monday night. Also to be honored is George Saimes, All-America fullback from Michigan State, whose home is in Canton.

Fiss has intercepted four passes this season for 81 yards, trailing Ross Fichtner, who has made seven interceptions. Galen leads the squad in recovery of opposition fumbles, with four to his credit.

Yankees' Tresh Is Chosen Rookie Of The Year In AL

BOSTON (AP) — Switchhitter Tom Tresh of the New York Yankees walked right past his father's major league footsteps into the American League Rookie of the Year award today.

A picture of versatility in all he undertook, Tresh drew the votes of 13 of the 20 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America who were on the selection committee.

Los Angeles Angels' catcher Bob Rodgers was named on four ballots while one vote apiece was given to Minnesota second baseman Bernie Allen, Los Angeles pitcher Dean Chance and fireballing relief hurler Dick Radatz of Boston.

Tresh was a vital cog in another Yankee march to baseball supremacy, playing 111 games at shortstop, then moving to left field for 43 after Tony Kubek returned from service. With three additional games in a pinch hit role, Tresh batted .286, scored 94 runs, drove in 93, hit 26 doubles, five triples and 20 homers.

Born in Detroit 24 years ago, Tresh is the son of former Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians catcher Mike Tresh, 1938-49.

The latter was known as a fine, iron-man receiver who caught every game in one season. His best batting season was 1940 when he hit .281.

Mike Tresh was in the stands when Tom won the fifth World Series game 5-2 over San Francisco by hitting a three-run, eighth-inning homer.

The younger Tresh is a 6-foot, 180-pounder who says he prefers the outfield to shortstop. He currently is in his sixth semester at Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant, Mich., where he is majoring in physical education.

Rookie of the Year in the International League a year ago, Tresh was second on the Yankees in hits with 178 and RBI with 93 and was third behind Roger Maris and Bobby Richardson in total bases.

Grid Team Posts 1st Winning Season Since 1956

Conrad's New Marks Feature 5-4-1 Campaign By Leetonia

By GLENN SCHOTTEN

LEETONIA — Coach Ike Farrah's bruising Bears, whose grid-iron growl was sometimes worse than their bite this fall, nevertheless completed their first winning season since 1956 with a respectable over-all record of 5-4-1.

They had the talent to play the mighty of the Tri-County League, in which they finished fourth, but an unpredictability in performance kept their most ardent followers in suspense from week to week.

TWO STARS of the squad which is drawn from the smallest student body in the league (326 pupils) broke three school records.

One was set by six foot, one senior end Henry Nemenz, who caught 18 passes for 155 yards and three touchdowns, most in the Bears' history.

Two other records were established by All-County Back Paul Conrad, a five, nine 155-pound whiz.

Conrad's 280 rushes for 1,588 yards for a 5.6 yard average was an all-time high here. His three-year total offense record of 3,175 yards also broke a record.

Conrad this season carried 141 times for 760 yards for a 5.3 average. Southpaw quarterback Frank Guerrier passed 82 times completing 41 for 500 yards and four TD's.

Despite Conrad's achievements, Back Al Vignon led the scoring with 54 points compared to Conrad's 49. But in total offense Conrad stacked up 1,133 yards while Vignon trailed with 998.

FARRAH, WHO will be in his fourth season next year, and his charges have made sharp improvement over the 1961 record of 2-6-1. With 28 gridders returning and bolstered by the talents of 18 oncoming freshmen, chances for another winning season appear excellent. Ten lettering linemen returning add an especially optimistic note.

Farrah attributes Leetonia High School's rising grid fortunes to an eager bunch of boys, and the installation of the ninth grade grid program to siphon talent into the varsity.

He gives special credit to his aides, Paul Frank, backfield coach; Len Batcha; line coach, John Gumyula, 9th grade coach; Dave Pavlansky, 8th grade coach; and Tom Patterson, 7th grade coach. Frank is also in charge of flag football in fifth and sixth grades.

THE '62 SQUAD probably rose to its greatest height midway in the season with the 12-6 defeat of powerful Minerva, which finished third in the Tri-County League. This victory came on the heels of a 27-20 win over East Palestine the preceding week.

Next year's schedule will be similar to the 1962 line-up, except that United Local will open the season on Sept. 7, while Beaver Local, which opened this year will be substituted for Rootstown as the second game.

The Bears posted victories over currently perennial Portage County champs, Rootstown, 20-0; East Palestine, 27-20; Minerva, 12-6; Lisbon, 13-6; and Canfield, 20-8.

Losses were to Beaver Local, 18-13; Louisville, 48-8; Columbiana, 40-22; Poland, 8-6. They tied Sebring, 16-16.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

People are really giving us nice compliments on the improvements we have been making here at the Country Store. It is a real inspiration to continue making them. One lady came down from Salem, her son sells Chevrolets over in Leetonia. She told me I didn't need to take my hat off to anyone in the grocery business. We have a real store here now.

We feel the finest people in the area are our customers and its about time we give them the kind of store they deserve.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo Christmas Story

By Lucrece Beale

(Chapter Five)
POOR HONEYBUN

When Honeybun was a little bit of a cub in a faraway land, her mother had been killed by a hunter. When the hunter discovered the orphaned baby bear, he was sorry for what he had done. He carried the cub all the way back to his own land and gave her to Mr. Shnoo.

"She's a runt and she's sickly," said the hunter. "But maybe she'll have a chance with you." Mr. Shnoo fell in love with the little brown bear. He kept her in his room and gave her milk from a bottle every three hours. He kept hot water bottles in her bed and gave her cod liver oil and vitamins. Most importantly, he gave her lots and lots of T.L.C. which is a prescription for Tender, Loving Care.

Honeybun thrived. She was always a runt but she was the liveliest runt anyone ever saw. After a few months she was so lively she was moved to the caves with the big bears.

EVERYONE LOVED HER. She was such a show-off. She would stand on her hind legs and clap her paws and make funny faces. Little children saved all their peanuts to throw to Honeybun. The bear would stand there making faces and putting on a regular circus until the children had thrown in all their peanuts. She knew exactly when the bags were emptied and no more peanuts coming. Then she would sweep up all the nuts from the ground and have a feast. She never lost a nut no matter where it landed.

Once a little girl squeezed between the bars of the cage and ran up to Honeybun, waving a vanilla ice cream cone. Everyone screamed and the keeper went leaping over the fence waving a stick.

"She'd never hurt a soul," declared Mr. Shnoo.

They need not have become so excited. Honeybun simply licked the ice cream off the cone. Then she licked the little girl's mouth where some ice cream was sticking. Then she yawned and lay down for a nap.

After that, they sometimes let children lead Honeybun around the zoo on a chain. Sometimes little children even rode on her back.

"She'd never hurt a soul," declared Mr. Shnoo.

But now someone had hurt Honeybun. She came tottering out of her cage holding her paws over her mouth and growling deep in her throat.

"Something's stuck in her mouth," said Mr. Shnoo. He climbed the fence and put his arm around Honeybun's neck. Honeybun dropped to all fours and stood shaking her head, moaning and rolling her eyes. Mr. Shnoo put his hands on her muzzle and gently opened her jaws.

All Honeybun's teeth were gone!

over the fence. He picked up something from the ground. "Look! A firecracker!"

Now it was all clear. Someone had given Honeybun a firecracker instead of a peanut and the firecracker had gone off in the poor bear's mouth and blown out all her teeth.

Honeybun's roar of pain had been heard all over the zoo and attendants and office workers and the animal doctor gathered at the cave.

"Do something!" Mr. Shnoo begged the doctor. "She's in terrible pain."

THE DOCTOR examined Honeybun and shook his head. "Better put her to sleep," he said.

"Without teeth she can never eat again. She'd starve by and by." Santa stepped forward and said, "I think I can help her."

Crookshank was standing there with the rest and he said, "Whoever you are you'd better move on. You heard what the doctor said and he ought to know."

The others muttered among themselves saying, "Why not let him try?" And Mr. Shnoo took Santa's arm and said, "Please! Do what you can."

"Very well," said Santa. "But He tied a rope around Honeybun's neck and led her away. Mr. Shnoo watched until they had almost disappeared. Then he went running after them crying, "Wait for me! Wait for me!"

Indian Drivers

See Red Troops

TEZPUR, India (AP)—An estimated 300 Chinese troops were reported today scattered along the mountain road from this Indian army headquarters to Bomdila, 100 air miles to the north.

The estimate was given to newsmen by ambulance drivers who returned from Bomdila before dawn with 64 sick or wounded Indian prisoners released by the Red Chinese Wednesday, and the body of one man who died three days ago.

The Chinese "were in holes in the forest and mountains," one driver said.

The report from the drivers bore out Prime Minister Nehru's statement in the Indian Parliament Monday that the Chinese may have thinned out advance units of their invasion armies but have not withdrawn them in accordance with their self-proclaimed cease-fire.

The Bomdila sector was the point of greatest Chinese penetration toward the fertile populous Assam plains.
